Pay Your Fee Directly To Host Families

Thousands of volunteers join volunteer abroad program and pay as much as $3000 for a 2 weeks experience. Unfortunately, only a small portion of it goes to the host family/project. And when you stay with the host family, gradually you learn that your host family is getting a very small fraction of it. You may wonder “where the heck is all that money going” and “does anyone actually care about the projects and host families”? Therefore, to maintain the honesty and financial transparency, we adopted a model where you pay your fees directly to the host families and projects (through country coordinator).

Our Experience Of 8 Years & 17,000 Happy Volunteers

When you join IFRE volunteers, you will be part of an establishment which has received highly positive feedback and become a reputed volunteer organization globally.

Cambodia - Country details

Cambodia's glorious past lives on in the incomparable Angkor Wat temple complex in the Buddhist kingdom's Northwest. Besides the structures' sprawling sense of grandness, the Hindu and Buddhist temples are also renowned for their wonderfully intricately detailed bas-reliefs carvings. While still peppered with landmines thanks to decades of conflict, the countryside is awash in many shades of green, thanks to the monsoon season that lashes the land. The lovely capital of Phnom Penh is full of French influence from tree-shaded streets to colonial French architecture to baguette sandwiches. In the South, holidaymakers flock to the resort town of Sihanoukville on the Gulf of Thailand. Warm and welcoming people are found throughout the country.

Projects

- Work in an Orphanage (Phnom Penh, Battambang, Siem Reap, and Pursat)
- Teach English in Rural Schools (Phnom Penh, Battambang, Siem Reap, and Pursat)
- Work with a Community Development Project (Phnom Penh)
- Work with Local NGO Projects (Phnom Penh)
- Health/Medical Project (Phnom Penh, Pursat)
- HIV/AIDS awareness project (Phnom Penh, Pursat)

Schedule

Our programs start every Monday, although we allow for flexibility due to travel constraints. Programs last from 2 to 12 weeks.

“It was very reassuring to be picked up from the airport and transferred to the hostel and the placement as well as knowing that there was always support available at the IFRE office. I really enjoyed the experience.”

Eating and sleeping

Volunteers in Cambodia stay with a host family or in a hostel. Living with a host family will give you with a wonderful opportunity to learn about local culture and customs. You will be given three local meals a day. There is a shared bathroom. Upon completion of the program, volunteers are taken to their projects and are introduced to the local project staff and host family. Most volunteers stay with host families during their projects.

“This was a fantastic experience from start to finish, from being picked up at the airport at exactly the agreed time, everything continued in this way.”

- Simon Williams

Volunteers' qualifications

No special skills are required for participating for most IFRE programs other than being open-minded, passionate about serving humanity, physically fit and ready for the hardships of living in a developing country. Teachers in English teaching projects must be fluent in English.

Orientation

The 1- to 2-hour long Orientation program offers unique insight into Cambodian culture and living. Participants will learn basic words and phrases in the Cambodian language. Some knowledge of local dos and don'ts will be shared. Knowledge on everything from politics to transportation will be passed along as well.

Daily Life of a volunteer

The day to day agenda of volunteers varies according to the project, season and location. Here is a typical schedule:

- 7AM - 8AM: Wake up, enjoy breakfast and get ready for the project.
- 8AM - 10AM: Arrive in the project, discuss about daily schedule with project coordinator and other agendas.
- 10AM - 12Noon: Work in the volunteer projects alongside local staffs.
- 12Noon - 1PM: Launch break, relax, and rest.
- 1PM - 3PM: Work in volunteer project.
- 3PM - 4PM: Wrap up volunteer work for the day and head home to either host family or home base.
- After 4PM: Your free time - use it to explore the country, culture, or just simply rest and relax.

Arriving

Volunteers will fly into and out of Phnom Penh International Airport. After you've confirmed your flight details, please pass the information to us. You'll be picked up at the airport upon arrival by our staff.

Visas

While tourist visas can be obtained upon arrival in Phnom Penh, IFRE recommends its volunteers to get a visa in a Cambodian embassy or consulate, as getting a visa on arrival is marked by chaos and a long line.

Safety

Nothing is more important at IFRE than the safety of its volunteers. Families, staffers and the status of destination countries have all been carefully considered and screened long before projects are decided upon. Four layers of safety are provided for our volunteers: the country coordinator, project staff, field staff and comprehensive insurance coverage.

“IFRE did really well to correspond with me via email & phone. They were thorough with the questions I had. Volunteering has changed my life and I would recommend to everyone.”

- Heidi Jayner

“I had an excellent experience. I have been assisted by a knowledgeable and professional staff. The facilities are comfortable and secure. I had an excellent time in my placement.”

- Lyn Edward

Vaccinations

- Malaria
- Dengue Fever
- Rabies
- Hepatitis A or immune globulin (IG)
- Hepatitis B
